Dear team,

On Sunday 8 November, the Queensland Government announced a new masterplan to set the long-term direction and growth of The Prince Charles Hopsital.

Following a detailed review of the Capacity Expansion Program, the clinical priorities for the project have been refreshed to reflect current and future service needs for our community and our workforce.

The masterplan provides a long-term vision for expanding and upgrading The Prince Charles Hospital campus, with the first stage delivering significant additional capacity and new and expanded services.

Stage 1 will deliver 100+ new hospital beds, an expanded Emergency Department, an expanded Cardiac Cath Lab, a new Outpatients building, and a new Mental Health facility.

Given The Prince Charles Hospital's status as Australia's leading cardiothoracic hospital, the first treatment spaces will be delivered by 2028, as part of the Chest Pain Assessment Unit within the expanded Emergency Department.

Construction of the new mental health facility is expected to be completed in 2031.

Stage Two of the expansion will include a new Acute Services Building, which will house a new and expanded Emergency Department, Cardiac Investigations Unit, operating theatres, Intensive Care Unit and other supporting services.

The broader campus will also be progressively upgraded through internal works and improvements to essential services.

The hospital will continue to operate safely as construction work begins, and we will share more information about specific impacts as each project progresses.

I know many of you will have questions about what this means for our hospital, our clinical priorities and impacts to our workforce.

We're focusing on accreditation this week, so Acting Executive Director Geoff Grima and the Expansion project team will host an all staff forum next week.
