"The process of recovery seemed so easy to understand when it was explained to me, but if I was left alone to do it without guidance and the opportunity to talk about my problems, I believe recovery would not have happened". C. 26yo

Our Philosophy

The Queensland Eating Disorder Service (QuEDS) recognises recovery from an eating disorder, although challenging, is always possible. Essential treatment components include a multidisciplinary team, family involvement, client investment and providing people with a number of options to best suit their needs at any given point.

Options to suit needs

QuEDS provides a "step-up, step down" model of care. Each level differs in intensity and will suit different people at different points in their recovery. All clients wishing to access QuEDS outpatient and day patient services will need a GP referral, and to attend an appointment at the QuEDS specialist consultation clinic or with the Day Program Psychiatrist.

QuEDS Outpatient and Day Patient Service Components

QuEDS Specialist Consultation Clinic

QuEDS provides a weekly specialist consultation clinic. Clients have the opportunity to meet with a specialist psychiatrist/psychiatric registrar for a thorough assessment of their eating disorder including medical, nutritional and psychological aspects. Each person will have the opportunity to talk about their thoughts/concerns as well treatment options available. These may include private and public referrals, or into one of the QuEDS clinics (see below). All clients are encouraged to bring a family member or support person with them. Referring GPs are informed of the outcome and any further actions required.

Individual Outpatient Treatment

QuEDS currently provides three types of individual therapy - Cognitive Behavioural Therapy Enhanced (CBTE) Specialist Supportive Clinical Management (SSCM) and MANTRA. These have shown evidence of effectiveness in the treatment of eating disorders. These are time limited therapies requiring a 7 to 13-month commitment over 20 to 40 sessions depending on each person's needs. Sessions initially commence twice a week, before going to once a week and once a fortnight and family involvement is strongly encouraged. Families can access individual single session family consultations and an evening skills group for support. Each client has access to a specialist dietitian for input when they, and their therapist, think it would be beneficial.

Day Program Overview

The Day Program requires availability to attend full days on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays for eight weeks as well as entry and exit appointments two weeks before and after program completion. In total a 13-week commitment. The day program involves group and individual work, including supported meals. Each program includes:

Two Week Entry Period	This includes individual appointments with a dietitian and key worker. These appointments are mandatory and will help familiarise participants and their families with the program and enable staff to understand individual needs before the group work starts.
Weeks 1-4	Participants attend therapeutic groups and supported meals facilitated by a specialised multidisciplinary team including members from psychology, dietetics, occupational therapy, nursing, and social work. Therapeutic groups focus on practical (e.g. food preparation), psychological (e.g. challenging food rules) and nutritional (e.g. improving variety in eating) aspects of recovery. All participants have a key worker and their own individual recovery plan. Family involvement is strongly encouraged. Family and carers are connected to community support and further resources.
Break Week	One week break from active program (includes attendance at team case review)
Weeks 5-8	Continue with therapeutic groups and supported meals.
Two Week Exit Period	Participants attend individual discharge appointments with the dietitian and key worker to assist transition back to the community. These appointments focus on helping participants transition from the day program to other therapeutic services, further community options, and ongoing recovery goals.

Will I have to wait?

QuEDS services are time limited and programs are sometimes full and individual clients may have to wait for a place in the program. It is essential that each client continues to see their GP regularly. Participants are given information about what to do during the waiting time, as well as expected start dates.

Am I eligible for this service and is there a cost?

There are eligibility criteria for the outpatient programs. At the assessment appointment the doctor will talk about these and help each client decide what they may want/need. While QuEDS services are publically funded there may be minimal out of pocket expenses, for example: social activities within the day program, some meals, companion therapy books etc.

Do I need a referral?

Yes. If the client or family are concerned, they should see their GP for a thorough medical assessment and referral. If under 18, clients need to request a referral to their local Child and Youth Mental Health Service (CYMHS) who provide evidence-based treatment for children and adolescents with eating disorders. If 16 or over, QuEDS can liaise with CYMHS or a private Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist to discuss entry into the Day Program. QuEDS accepts referrals from GPs. The referral form can be located on the QuEDS website (Google QuEDS)
