COVID-19 daily update for Thursday, 27 January 2022

IMT COVID-19 UPDATE – IMPORTANT INFORMATION

- MNH has confirmed that all non-urgent planned care to be postponed until the week after Monday, 31 January 2022.
- MN continues to prioritise fit testing. Call the CKW fit testing service on 5316 2422 to make a priority appointment if you haven't been tested and are working in a high-risk priority area.
- MNH has a good supply of RAT testing kits for patient testing. A reminder to please be diligent when using RAT tests and ensure you know how to successfully perform a RAT test procedure and interpret the results.
- A third fit testing machine will be made available to the CKW Directorate next week (w/c 31/01). The new machine will be sent to Woodford to ensure Woodford Corrections Health staff are urgently fit-tested in light of the rising number of COVID positive prisoners, and then it will be sent to Kilcoy Hospital.
- If any staff member arrives at work and is unable to access their fit tested mask immediately raise the issue with their Line Manager or Team leader, and if the issue is unable to be resolved, escalate to the service line Nursing Director and the CKW EOC.

- Woodford Corrections has 98 COVID positive patients.
- Metro North is developing a policy around how to support Education Queensland with RAT tests, including reporting requirements and obligations.
- A new national COVID-19 campaign is being launched to educate the community around when it is appropriate to present to an Emergency Department and when to call 000 for an ambulance.
- MN hospital admissions due to COVID-19 appear to be stabilising, which may indicate that Metro Queensland has reached its peak. More certainty will be known once hospitalisations start to decrease four days running. We will continue to monitor.
