

Introduction to Clinical Research Principles 2019

Designing a Clinical Research Project

Tuesday, 12th February 2019, 12:30 – 13:30

RBWH Education Centre Auditorium, Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital, Herston

Content material

An overview of the types of research methodologies with examples: advice on how to choose the right method for your research question.

Professor Patsy Yates

PhD, RN, FACN, FAAN

Prof Yates is jointly appointed as Head, School of Nursing at Queensland University of Technology and Director for Queensland Health's Statewide Centre for Palliative Care Research and Education (CPCRE). She has over 30 years' experience in research, education and clinical practice in cancer and palliative care. She leads a range of research and service improvement programs focused on developing workforce capacity in cancer and palliative care, advancing the management of cancer related symptoms and treatment side effects, and strengthening the nexus between research, policy and practice in cancer care. She is currently President for Palliative Care Australia.

Register by COB Thursday, 7th February 2018

Please use the online registration form available from the MN Research webpage
<https://www.health.qld.gov.au/metronorth/research/education-events>

Coordinated by the Metro North Office of Research- MNHHS-Research@health.qld.gov.au

Queensland University of Technology
Faculty of Health

Faculty of Medicine

QIMR Berghofer
Medical Research Institute

