Policy statement

Metro North Hospital and Health Service (Metro North) values the benefit of effectively managing feedback from our consumers (both positive and negative) about the care and services we deliver and is committed to providing a high-quality consumer feedback system.

Purpose and intent

This policy outlines the direction, governance and roles and responsibilities for consumer feedback management in Metro North and supports compliance with section 219A of the Public Service Act 2008 (Qld) 'Departments to have complaints management system for customer complaints' and the human rights of all Queenslanders under the Human Rights Act 2019 (Qld) (Human Rights Act). The policy is supported by a suite of procedures and protocols which provide guidance for the successful management of consumer feedback consistently, fairly, reasonably and on time.

All Clinical Directorates are required to have in place an effective consumer feedback management system.

The intent of this policy is to outline the guiding principles and framework for the consumer feedback management system that will:

1. Facilitate the management and responsiveness to feedback in a timely, sensitive and effective manner.
2. Enhance mechanisms for responding to consumer feedback to improve services.
3. Ensure a consistent approach to responsive management of feedback across Metro North, in keeping with the Australian Charter of Healthcare Rights guiding principles.
4. Increase awareness of feedback management requirements and related legislation including giving proper consideration to human rights in accordance with the Human Rights Act when making decisions or taking actions.
5. Ensure Metro North responds to consumer feedback in keeping with National Safety and Quality Health Service (NSQHS) Standard 1: Clinical Governance and Standard 2: Partnering with Consumers.

Scope and target audience

This policy applies to all Metro North Hospital and Health Service staff (permanent, temporary and casual) and all organisations and individuals acting as its agents (including Visiting Medical Officers and other partners, contractors, consultants and volunteers).

A “consumer” is a person who has used, or may potentially use health services, or who is a carer for a patient using health services. A healthcare consumer may also act as a consumer representative, to provide a consumer perspective, contribute consumer experiences, advocate for the interests of current and potential health service users, and take part in decision-making processes.

Any complaint that may be considered corrupt conduct, professional misconduct, fraud or conduct in breach of the Code of Conduct for the Queensland Public Service and may subsequently require referral to the Office of the Health Ombudsman and /or Crime and Corruption Commission must be referred to Metro North Crime and Corruption Liaison Officer MNHHS-Integrity@health.qld.gov.au

Refer to Metro North Procedure Requirements for Reporting Corrupt Conduct

This policy applies to:

- all Metro North Hospital and Health Service (Metro North) clinical and non-clinical staff (permanent, temporary and casual) and all organisations and individuals acting as its agents (including Visiting Medical Officers and other partners, contractors, consultants and volunteers)
- all settings across the health continuum including community, primary, acute, rehabilitation and residential care health services within Metro North

Principles

The following principles underpin the Metro North consumer management system:

- Recognition that consumer feedback is essential for the ongoing improvement in the safety and quality of services Metro North provides.
- Metro North welcomes and encourages feedback from consumers, their family members or carers, and from our clinicians and staff about the safety and quality of care we provide.
- Recognition that feedback is provided through multiple channels, through surveys, focus groups, committees, compliments and complaints processes and incident management system and at the point of care.
- Supports a culture of openness and demonstrates willingness to learn from incidents, complaints and suggestions.
- Involves and engages diverse groups who access our services, including those people who may not usually provide feedback.
- Commits to ensuring consumers participate in the evaluation of the patient experience and feedback information.
- Has effective systems in place to analyse and respond to individual and aggregated feedback at each level of governance.
- Is transparent about how feedback is used to inform care and service improvements through publications such as the annual Quality of Care Report.

Policy elements

This policy is aligned with the following associated procedures and protocols which form an integral part of the consumer feedback system:

- Consumer feedback (compliments, complaints & suggestions) Procedure
- Consumer Healthcare Rights Procedure
- Partnering with Consumers Policy
- Partnering with Consumers Procedure
- Partnering with Consumers: Processes, tools and templates Guideline
- Consumer Written Information Procedure

Audits, reviews and continuous improvement

Continual improvement of the feedback system is one of the guiding principles for effective feedback management.

The feedback management system is regularly reviewed to ensure its suitability, adequacy, effectiveness and efficiency, this includes:

- collection of information – records of the performance of the feedback process including conducting audits to assess:
 - the conformity of feedback management procedures
 - the extent that procedures are being followed
 - the ability of existing processes to achieve objectives
 - strengths and weakness of the processes
 - opportunities for improvement
- analysis and evaluation of feedback – identify systemic and recurring/single incident problems and trends and to eliminate underlying causes of complaints
- satisfaction with complaints process – regular action to determine levels of satisfaction, including surveys of complainants
- monitoring of the feedback process – performance of the process should be measured against predetermined criteria
- reviewing of the feedback process – regular reviewing of the process to evaluate performance on compliance with procedures and stability to achieve objectives
- management review of the feedback process
