

Invitation for GPs: Older Persons Mental Health

Thursday 16 May 2024

Metro North Health and Brisbane North PHN invite GPs to join your general practice colleagues and our panel of experts for an evening of education, networking and discussion.

As our population ages, GPs are caring for an increasing number of older patients, and depression is estimated to affect 10-15 per cent of people aged over 65 years. There can be diagnostic challenges in distinguishing mood symptoms and dementia in this population, and this education event brings together specialists in old age psychiatry and geriatrics to discuss care of our older patients.

Join us for an evening on mental health care for older patients discussion.
